Timothy Henkel

Partner

Timothy “Tim” Henkel is the founding partner of Henkel Law, P.A. and has practiced law for 34 years. Tim concentrates his practice in representation of marketing companies, growers, and traders in the U.S. fresh produce (fruit and vegetable) industry, including administrative complaints before the U.S. Department of Agriculture (“USDA”) pursuant to the Perishable Agricultural Marketing Act (“PACA”) and Federal lawsuits involving enforcement of the PACA Trust. Tim also represents plaintiffs and defendants in commercial disputes to be resolved through litigation, mediation, and arbitrations in Florida state courts and in Federal courts around the U.S. Tim also provides legal advice and representation on general corporate, business, and contract matters. Tim has litigated cases in Florida’s state and Federal trial courts in Miami-Dade, Broward, and Palm Beach Counties as well as in Federal district courts in Tampa, Philadelphia, New York, Los Angeles, Rochester, Cincinnati, Terre Haute, Chicago, Houston, and Minneapolis. He has prosecuted appeals of civil cases in Florida’s Third and Fourth District Courts of Appeal and in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit. He has arbitrated disputes before the American Arbitration Association and the Society of Maritime Arbitrators as well as participating in numerous mediations of business disputes.

Tim served as a Federal law clerk to Jose A. Gonzalez, Jr., U.S. District Judge, in the Ft. Lauderdale division of the Southern District of Florida from 1988 through 1990 and was one of two judicial clerks assigned approximately 150 civil actions. For four years after the clerkship, he was an associate attorney with the Miami law firm of Gilbride, Heller & Brown, P.A. where he worked on a variety of civil litigation matters including lender liability, accountant liability, business torts, and contract disputes. Between 1994 and 2010, Tim was employed first as an associate and then as a partner of the law firm of Silver, Garvett & Henkel, P.A. From 2011 until 2021, he practiced law at Henkel & Cohen, P.A. with his law partner, Ira Cohen. Tim formed Henkel Law, P.A. in 2022 to continue existing client relationships and to represent new clients primarily in the fresh produce industry. He also serves as an arbitrator in resolving U.S. produce industry disputes involving the trading, sale, distribution, warehousing, and transportation of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Tim obtained his law degree with honors from George Mason University School of Law (1988) in Arlington, Virginia, graduating tenth in his class. He was an Editor of the George Mason University Law Review and was awarded Best Oralist and Best Team distinctions in the law school’s Moot Court competition in 1988. Tim worked during his last two years of law school (1986-88) as a law clerk for Robert E. Miller, Esq. in a personal injury and plaintiff’s practice. He obtained his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Virginia (1985), double majoring in rhetoric and communications as well as history.
